

DINE and DISH

We summoned 10 of the city's most opinionated tastemakers to dinner, everyone from a discerning gallerist to a budding fashion star to an architect on a thoroughly modern mission. Why this bunch? To hear what they're into — collecting, craving, coveting — for fall and winter. (Who knew Swifty Lazar's big, black glasses were making a comeback.) The venue? A space we fell for the minute we laid eyes on it: the new private dining room at Tillman's Roadhouse, a woodsy wonderland festooned in real birch trees, taxidermy peacocks, faux-antelope carpeting, a rock-crystal chandelier and flickering candles — the perfect place, we thought, to talk trends of all kinds. Pull up a chair: The fare here is mighty tasty.

"It's also a colorful fall; the rich, jewel-tone colors — brilliant blues, bright oranges, and rich reds and purples — are here ..."

Fall/winter wish list: "Nina Ricci white stretch boot ... Valentino's cape sweater wrap in this bright, fabulous, tangerine color ... Luciano Padovan peep-toe, disco-ball pumps ... Kevin Paul's springbok messenger purse from Flip Gallery in the Bishop Arts District ... Sam Kraus 76-inch, five-way necklace [also at Flip]. I love the drama! ..."

Travel time: "Jackson Hole ... my hometown ... I get refreshed by the grandeur of the Tetons, the vivid colors of fall, the sunsets ... Slide Lake ... The Bunnery ... Bubba's Bar-B-Que or the Bar J Chuckwagon followed by the rodeo is an authentic locals' experience; it's one of the few rodeos in the world that anyone can participate in — with the will and an entry fee ..."

Hot sounds: "Donald [Fowler] from Stanley Korshak's Gifts & Home shop says you can't miss these two: Music for Modern Living [compilations] and Serge Gainsbourg's Mauvaises nouvelles des étoiles ... I'm also interested in downloading The Wreckers and The Supper Club's new compilation CD ..."
